The loss in trading Forex and CFDs can be substantial. You should therefore carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you in light of your personal financial circumstances and financial resources. The high degree of leverage that is obtainable in Forex trading and CFDs trading on account of minimal margin requirements can work against you as well as for you. The use of leverage can lead to large losses as well as gains. I have considered the financial risks involved in Forex trading with regard to my personal financial circumstances and financial resources, and I wish to proceed with opening an account.
